

SOME BASEBALL MANAGERS ARE HARD TO APPROACH

TREKELL GETS WALLOPED BY OGDEN TEAM

Ogden took the series from Missoula when yesterday's game at the Fair grounds was won by the score of 7 to 4. The change from the diamond of Glenwood to the pioneer ball grounds was celebrated by a large audience. The game was an excellent exhibition.

Because of the great showing he made in keeping the Kittens almost hitless in the last game he pitched, the players had no great love for Trekell. Consequently when he loosened to a slight extent, advantage was taken and 10 beautiful singles, doubles and triples were garnered from his offerings.

Rustenhaven was sent in at the start for Ogden, but when he was found to be in a wobbly shape Knight hastily replaced him after one man was out. After Warren, the first man was out, Trekell pitched. The fans raised a big holler and Ogden's south-paw was placed on the bench.

Good fielding on both sides was the feature of the game. Ogden's outfielders romped over the ground with the greater skill and Moorehead and Felts made some sensational catches. Missoula's fielders would probably have done better, but the Ogden swatters had a most unhappy faculty of hitting the balls over their heads.

The one single and two passes given by Rustenhaven set the stage for Missoula to score when Knight went into the box. With the bases filled Carman singled, scoring Moore. Knight then fanned Changnon and Dashedbach fled to Felts.

In the second Sorenson singled and Trekell pushed him to second by a sacrifice. Warren sent one out for three bags and Sorenson scored. The other two men out were caught at the home plate.

Trekell helped his own game along in the sixth when he doubled after Dashedbach had doubled and Sorenson had gone to first after being hit by a pitched ball. Those last runs completed the scoring for Missoula.

It was in the third inning that the Knights came back at Trekell with a vengeance. Levy was walked and Pourroy struck out. After roasting Pourroy for fanning Knight said, "Watch me." He sent out a hot one for two bags, scoring Levy. Woolums repeated Knight's trick. Moorehead was walked, filling the bases, and Jones singled, scoring Knight and Woolums. Wessler scored Moorehead when he grounded to third and was thrown out at first.

Those four runs discouraged the Highlanders, yet they played tight ball during the remainder of the game. Ogden managed, however, by effective hitting to clout in three additional runs before the game was ended.

Commencing Tuesday, Ogden will begin the series with Great Falls. With the exception of Sunday, the games will be played at Glenwood and will begin at 4 o'clock. Next Sunday's game will be played at the Fair grounds.

Missoula and Butte left for the north at midnight and Great Falls and Helena will arrive in Ogden and Salt Lake tomorrow morning.
